STATION AGENT COMMITTEE SAYS

S. E. Turner, Said to Be Short in His Accounts, Fires Bullet Into His Brain.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Dec. 3.—With an ugly bullet wound near his right temple, an automobile 32-caliber Browning revolver lying beside him on the floor with one cartridge discharged, S. E. Turner, aged twenty-seven, station agent for the Union Pacific at Devil's Slide, was found dead on the door of the station house by his bride of two months at an early hour this morning.

While early indications, together with the report started by the grief-stricken widow, caused the police officials and sheriff's force to believe a daring robbery and murder had been committed, developments late this afternoon have practically established the suicide theory, the authorities say.

Money Missing.
The door of the office safe was unlocked and a considerable money, reported to be in the neighborhood of $290, was missing. Turner's gold watch was also reported to have been taken from his pocket, and there were slight evidences of a struggle in the room.

Immediately after the news of the tragedy reached this city, about 4 o'clock this morning, a number of patrolmen were stationed at the depot to watch for the supposed murderers, who were expected to come to this city on the first train. This morning the railroad company sent Special Agent Lewis to Devil's Slide to make an investigation. Mr. Lewis reported shortly before 7 o'clock this evening that it had been found Turner was short in his accounts, and that practically every bit of evidence in the room where the body was found, which was at first reported missing from the safe, was found hidden in a desk drawer, and it is believed Turner threw his watch in the Weber river, which runs within a few feet of the station, as a last resort in attempting to shield his wife from the stigma of being the widow of a suicide.

It has been impossible to ascertain what time the fatal bullet was fired. Turner left home a short distance from the station, early in the evening and refused to permit a boy, who usually helps him around the depot, to assist last night. It was after midnight before the young bride, becoming anxious, and having failed to raise her husband over the telephone, went to the station and found the body.

Late this afternoon the bullet was extracted from the dead man's head, and it was announced positively that the fatal shot was fired from Turner's own revolver. Efforts are being made to communicate with Turner's parents, who live somewhere in Ohio, but up to a late hour this evening they could not be located.

The young widow, who is prostrated with grief, will probably return to her home in Evanston, Wyo. The Union Pacific Railway company has dispatched an expert auditor on the case to ascertain the exact amount of the alleged shortage.

LONG-STANDING QUARREL CULMINATES IN A FIGHT

W. H. Hill, an Ogden Gambler, Fined
Sixty Dollars for Battery on Link Larsh.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Dec. 3.—W. H. Hill, a well known gambler of this city, was fined $60 in police court this morning on a charge of assault and battery resulting from an attack on Link Larsh, a fellow gambler, Thursday night.

Hill pleaded not guilty and produced two witnesses who testified that Larsh drew a knife on the defendant, but Hill so much larger and stronger than the complaining witness the court was inclined to discount his testimony. The evidence showed that both men were drunk. Larsh's face showed that he has certainly come out with the small end of the game recently.

A quarrel of long standing, said to have dated back several years to a misunderstanding in Cripple Creek, Colo., was the reason for the trouble.

ONLY A FALSE ALARM

Small Blaze in a Rooming House Nearly Causes Panic Among Inmates.
(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Ogden, Dec. 3.—What proved to be nothing more than a bit of a flame created a furore in a lodging house at Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fourth street early this morning. The fire department was called out, but when the engine arrived on the scene there was nothing to put out.

A stoppage in a water pipe caused the landlady to probe underneath a sink with a candle. Some oil was stored there and a drop of hot grease from the candle caused a flame to burst forth. The woman ran out into the hallway and screamed "Fire." Several late-sleeping roomers rushed to the street and the alarm was sent in. In the meantime, however, one of the more cool-headed had stopped the "conflagration" with a wet blanket.

The building is known as a tenement block, but is now owned by David Eccles.

NEWS OF UTAH AND ADJOINING STATES

NEW COMPANY TO ABSORB THE OLD

West Cache Irrigation Will Be Taken Over by Recently Organized Concern.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Logan, Dec. 3.—One of the most important deals ever made in Cache valley, which have had to do with irrigation, has been consummated within the past few days in the organization of a holding company known as the "Trenton Irrigation company," which is to absorb what is known as the West Cache Irrigation company.

The new organization is the outgrowth of troubles which have existed in the West Cache Irrigation company for the past two or three years. A majority of the board of directors has been made up of landholders who owned just enough stock to furnish water for the land, or parts thereof. Much of the stock has been held by individuals on the west side of the valley, as well as Logan people and others throughout the state. The landholders have made assessments, amounting to an average of sixteen per cent, as the operation of the canal needed.

This spring an effort was made to have the farmers of the region which the canal waters irrigate into a district under governmental pattern. Such a plan was rejected, and then the stockholders began active work to relieve them of assessments.

The meetings held here Tuesday and Wednesday of the present week resulted in the formation of the present corporation, capitalized at $400,000, and controlled by men who own 100,000 of the 140,000 shares of the West Cache Irrigation company. John A. Hendrickson is made president; E. R. Miles, Jr., of Smithfield, vice president; John G. Adams of Logan, second vice president; Louis S. Carlson of Logan, secretary and treasurer. A board of seventeen members will control the business of the corporation. These members are as follows: J. A. Hendrickson, E. R. Miles, Jr., John G. Adams, R. E. Butler, William Bingham, H. W. Ballard, B. Y. Benson, J. E. Carlson, Anderson, W. P. Funk, Jacob Jorgensen, Parker P. Merrill, C. A. Reese, Abram H. Smith, Charles C. Wood, Ephraim Bergeson and M. C. Rigby.

The new company intends to expend $100,000 in improvements for the canal as soon as possible. These improvements will be in the nature of cementing or clay-reinforcing the sides of the canal so as to prevent seepage. Flumes, bridges and other needed improvements will also be made.

The articles of incorporation will be filed as soon as all the officers have attached their names to the articles and officers are fixed up securely. The old stock of the company will be bought over as fast as the new company is presented with it. The terms will be par, with part payment in new stock and part in notes bearing interest for a period not named as yet.

ACCIDENT TO BOY MAY PROVE FATAL

Young Man, Supposedly Thrown From Horse, Lies
Outdoors All Night.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Willard, Dec. 3.—Seriously injured and unconscious, Parker Perry, sixteen-year-old son of James Perry, lay out in the pasture on his grandfather's ranch near here all night last night, and was found by farm hands this morning still in an unconscious condition, and his head covered with blood. Up to a late hour today young Perry had not recovered consciousness, and his condition is considered precarious. Just how Perry was injured no one knows, but it is supposed that he was thrown from a horse which he attempted to take from his grandfather's barn to the pasture.

The boy was visiting his grandparents, and when he failed to return to the house last night they thought he had gone to his home. His parents, on the other hand, thought he was safe at his grandfather's place. When morning hands found him lying in the pasture, unconscious and apparently badly injured, a physician examined him and found an ugly wound on the head, supposed to have been made by a fall from the horse he had ridden. The doctor cannot tell what the outcome of the young man's condition will be.

GOOD RESULTS SHOWN IN THE CITY SCHOOLS

System of Medical Examinations of Pupils Discloses Causes for Deficiency Among Children.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Provo, Dec. 3.—The health inspection of the city schools and the individual medical examination of pupils which was instituted in the schools with the beginning of the school year is bringing good results and is commending itself to the parents more and more as its benefits become apparent.

Drs. E. G. Hughes and H. G. Merrill are daily at one or another of the schools, giving medical examination to some of the pupils. The parents of children to be examined are notified and asked to be present if they so desire.

The examinations have disclosed many defects in children not heretofore known or reported, such as loss of sight in one eye, deafness, in one ear, absence of the sense of smell, etc. Other children have been found with teeth growing in a deformed way and with incipient diseases which would have developed with serious results had they been permitted to develop.

In these cases recommendations of treatment are made to the parents, and when medical or surgical attendance is needed the parents are so advised. The Provo schools have answered other interesting and unique distinction, they being the only schools of any district in the state in which each school can boast of its own orchestra, composed of boys and girls of the schools. These musical organizations play for the marching of the pupils and assist in all school entertainments.

The city treasurer was empowered to employ a deputy to attend to the extra work entailed upon his office by the sending out of the special tax notices in the matter of sewers and sidewalks.

Hines and the Utah Wholesale Grocery company to collect $4,800 on a promissory note secured by mortgage on Utah county real estate, made by Mrs. Hines. The Utah Wholesale Grocery company claims an interest in the mortgaged property, and is therefore made a party defendant.

PHYSICAL BASIS OF EDUCATION

Subject Presented to Utah
County Teachers by Superintendent G. N. Child.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Provo, Dec. 3.—The supervisors and principals of the county schools met with Superintendent George N. Child here today, for the purpose of considering questions of interest to the schools.

The importance of securing reports on the physical basis of education in the respective schools, from which will be compiled and submitted to the legislature a report by the state committee on the physical basis of education, was urged. This report will be a guide to the legislature in providing for the education of defective children.

The teachers were urged to become members of the Utah State Teachers' association, and to attend the institute in Salt Lake this winter.

Some consideration was given to the change in the superintendency of the county schools, which will be made necessary by the resignation of Superintendent Child, who goes to Salt Lake City as supervisor of the grammar grade teachers of the Salt Lake schools.

It was expressed as the sense of the meeting that it was the hope of the teachers that the board of county commissioners, in selecting a successor to Mr. Child, would be influenced solely by the educational qualifications of the candidates.

There is quite a lively rivalry by applicants and friends of applicants for the position. The candidates are: J. Preston Creer of Spanish Fork, who was the Republican nominee for the office at the last election; Osmond Justsen of American Fork, N. K. Nielson of Springville, James H. Walker of Pleasant Grove, and others.

JORDAN INSTITUTE

Interesting Lecture by Professor Paul,
Musical Program Followed by Ball Among the Features.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.)
Sandy, Dec. 3.—Teachers of the Jordan district held their institute at the Jordan high school Friday as guests of the teachers and pupils of that institution.

At the morning session an interesting talk was delivered by Professor Paul of the state normal school. Following the address, grade work was taken up by the teachers.

In the afternoon a musical program was rendered under the auspices of the high school, aided by local talent outside of the school. Miss Romania Hyde and Miss Edith Grant of Salt Lake gave musical numbers.

A banquet was prepared by Miss Jensen and her pupils of the domestic science department, and served to the teachers and visiting guests late in the afternoon. A grand ball in the evening marked the close of the institute program.

THREE THINGS FOR THE BETTERMENT OF THE PIANO BUSINESS

1. "The establishment of a one-price system in every honest piano store.
2. "A consistent campaign against all useless and obsolete methods, including the payment of commission and misleading advertisements.
3. "To enlighten the piano-purchasing public as to the system through which thousands of men and women in every state in the Union have been victimized."

These principles were advocated by an Eastern Musical Journal. Could there be any stronger indorsement of the Carstensen & Anson Company's plan than this?

Upon these principles we conduct our business. We know our one-price plan is the only square way of dealing with each customer. We know that our one-price is uniformly the lowest in the intermountain states. We know piano contest schemes are intended to deceive the public. We know and YOU know that there can be no real contest, when every one receives a prize (1).

The piano prices of a firm must be tremendously high when holders of $100.00 piano purchase checks are urged to buy pianos. Of course, the firms holding these contests give confidential "inside prices" when there is no contest, so really it matters little whether you have a check or bond and buy a piano, or buy a piano when there is, no contest. In either case the value you receive for the money you spend is very doubtful. So doubtful that holders of checks as high as $100.00 have discarded their checks and bought from us with profit and satisfaction to themselves.

Thousands of people have tested the economy of the Carstensen & Anson Company's plan. That's why we sell so many pianos. If the light we shed on the piano business hurts any other dealer it's because his methods won't bear inspection. Insist on coming to our store before buying a piano, no matter how little you wish to pay, or on what terms. We are factory distributors for the WEBER, EVERETT, KRAKAUER, PEASE, LUDWIG, BRADFORD AND MANY OTHERS.

We are also exclusive agents for the complete line of
